

LAD HIM TO REST

Services Over the Remains of Albert Victor.

GREAT CROWDS OF MOURNERS

Bells Toll From Every Steeple in Great Britain While the Body is En Route to Windsor.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Brief services were held over the body of the late duke of Clarence in the parish church at Sandringham at 9 a. m., and afterward the body was placed on a draped gun carriage for transportation to Windsor. On its arrival at the station it was placed on a special train of the Great Eastern railway.

Services at Sandringham were attended by the prince of Wales, his household, and sister Victoria, who nursed the dead prince. The royal party drove from Sandringham hall to the church. The peasantry of the prince of Wales' dukedom acted as pallbearers. At the conclusion of the service the body was removed from the church, the prince of Wales, duke of Fife, clergy, and game-keepers of the estate following behind on foot. In the procession to the station were carriages containing the other members of the royal family. The peasantry of the village and a large number of spectators brought up the rear. All the ceremonies at the parish church were very simple but of the most impressive character.

En Route to Windsor.

The funeral train passed the outskirts of London at 2 o'clock, the request for privacy made by the royal family being everywhere respected. While the train was conveying the body of the duke to Windsor the minute guns were fired from warships and forts throughout Great Britain and Ireland.

All England Mourns.

In addition to the firing of the guns bells from nearly every church steeple in England were tolled during the whole time the body was on its way to Windsor. In this city the stores were all partly closed. All the cabmen and bus-drivers have bows of black crape upon their whips and the majority of the male portion of the population seen on the streets wear crape bands, military fashion, on their left arms. Every flag is at half-mast.

At Windsor.

At Windsor the weather was cold and dismal. It snowed during the night, and the streets were covered with slush. The shops in the town were closed and the shop fronts along the route followed by the funeral procession were draped with black. All the trains which arrived at the station at Windsor brought wreaths from all parts of the country. There was an almost countless number of these floral offerings. They were taken to the Albert Memorial chapel, the walls and chancel floor of which were completely hidden by an immense mass of these tokens of sorrowful remembrance.

In European Capitals.

Services in memory of the duke were held in all the European capitals. In Berlin the Empress Augusta and Empress Frederick, the latter of whom is the aunt of the duke, and many other members of the German imperial family and a number of royal personages attended the services held in the city. Emperor Francis Joseph, many of the Austrian archdukes and other members of the imperial family were present at the memorial services held in Vienna. At the services held in Paris, the French government was represented by M. Ribot, minister of foreign affairs. The services were held in the chapel of the British embassy.

CHILIAN AFFAIRS LULLED.

The President Calls His Cabinet Advisers for Consultation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The utmost quiet pervaded the navy department this afternoon. No orders to vessels were made public, but Assistant Secretary Selig and Commander Ramsey admitted that Admiral Gherardi had gone to sea from Port au Prince with the United States steamer Philadelphia and Concord. The president is still deeply engrossed in his message on the Chilean situation. Late this afternoon he called several cabinet advisers to his assistance. They were closeted with him some time, discussing it is understood, the message and the varying phases of the Chilean situation. Secretary Foster left early, the other three remaining with the president until nearly 5 o'clock.

GOV. BOIES INAUGURATED.

He Urges the Immediate Repeal of the Iowa Prohibition Law.

DES MOINES, Jan. 20.—The second inauguration of Horace Boies as governor of Iowa took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the hall of the house of representatives in the presence of a large and distinguished assemblage. The inauguration ceremonies were extremely simple and devoid of display, the escort of the governor and his party from the Hotel Savoy to the capitol consisting of two companies of militia, with a party of five or six regimental officers with their staffs. A platoon of police led the procession. The gubernatorial party and distinguished visitors followed in a dozen carriages and the Hawkeye club brought up the rear. The oath was administered by Justice Rothrock, of the state supreme court.

HE WANTED A JOB.

And for That Reason Threw a Bomb into a Bakery.

St. Louis, Jan. 20.—Frederick Strauss was arrested today charged with having thrown a dynamite bomb into Miller's bakery January 4, and seriously injuring one of the workmen employed there. Strauss said he was out of work and wanted a job and hoped to scare off the bakers.

Child's Able President.

New York, Jan. 20.—E. Perry Devalasco, the Peruvian consul in New York, says: "The rank and file in Chile is undoubtedly averse to apologetics, but Mr. Montt is a very sensible man, and I should think would fully realize what a war with the United States would mean for his country. Yet, if the government apologized now to the United States, it would probably be turned out in short order. The government is therefore between two fires. However, I think a show of firearms would quickly settle the matter. As long as the Chileans do not see a hostile fleet in their harbors they will scout the idea of making any apology, but they might alter their minds if any fleet were to appear."

NO HOPE FOR ELLIOTT.

Supreme Court Says He Must End His Days in Prison.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 20.—The supreme court yesterday overruled the motion for a new trial for W. J. Elliott, the murderer now serving a life sentence in the Ohio state prison. Elliott is the editor who last March killed, with his brother's help, A. C. Osborne and W. L. Hughes in the streets of Columbus. This removes his last hope of escaping the terrible punishment, and he was unable to control the depressing effect of the decision had upon him.

STRUCK IT RICH.

An Iowa Professor Discovers Some Valuable Limestones.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 20.—An important discovery has been made in this (Buchanan) county. Professor Alvin of the State university recently made an examination of the rocks in several sections and found large quantities of a peculiar limestone, used so extensively in lithographic art, which at present is obtained only in Germany. As the demand is so great and the present supply limited, the find will undoubtedly prove a rich one.

Pleading Poverty.

Swallowed Carbolic Acid by Mistake.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 20.—Police Justice James E. Loan, a prominent democratic politician, died in great agony early Sunday morning from a dose of carbolic acid taken by mistake for medicine. He was taken ill in the night, and not wishing to awaken the family, he groped his way down stairs in the dark to a closet. He took from a shelf a bottle containing, as he supposed, a simple medicine and swallowed a mouthful of it.

Anarchist Case Not Heard.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The anarchists' case will undoubtedly come up in the supreme court tomorrow. According to the clerk of the court it may be reached later this afternoon, but as at 3 o'clock there remained a Vermont liquor case to be argued after the one at that time before the court he thought it doubtful if Attorney Salmon would be given an opportunity to open the case before tomorrow.

Kicked to Death.

Pope Leo Is All Right.

ROME, Jan. 20.—The pope had a good night's sleep. His indisposition, which was of the slightest, has nearly disappeared, and he is attending to official duties today as usual. Needless alarm has been created by exaggerated reports of his illness. Considering his advanced age, the holy father has been in better health this year than usual.

WERE UP TO SNUFF

The Court House Vault-Fixture
Men are Sharp.

THEY TRY TO BEAT THE COUNTY

But Get to Quarreling Among Themselves and Give the Intended Snaf-Away—A Foxy Agreement.

Since the end of the October session of the board of supervisors a warfare has been waged by and against the Fenton Metallic company of Jamestown, N. Y., the successful bidder for furnishing the vault fixtures for the new court house.

Strange moves have been made, which, until yesterday, have remained unexplained. In response to an advertisement three companies presented bids, namely, the Fenton Metallic company, Jamestown, N. Y.; Hoffman-Keefe company, Milwaukee, and the Office Specialty company of Pittsburgh. These three constitute all the concerns in the United States, making a specialty of the manufacture vault fixtures.

When the bids were opened two of them were practically the same, while that of Hoffman-Keefe was a trifle lower. A committee, composed of Judge of Probate Perkins, County Clerk Harvey, Supervisors Loomis, Solomon and Walker, was directed to examine the different goods presented. In due time a report was made. Judge Perkins and County Clerk Harvey agreed, and made a report, as did also Loomis and Walker. Each favored different bidders. A motion was made by Supervisor Hogadone that the contract be awarded to the lowest bidder, Hoffman-Keefe. This was lost by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Clements, Hogadone, Loomis, Roberts, Sullivan, J. W. Walker and Watkins.
Nays—Benjamin, Bergin, Colson, Emmons, Fehsenfeld, Frost, Gill, Gould, Havens, Hill, Kinney, Lodner, Leppink, Potter, Plumb, Schermerhorn, Sinclair, Smith, Skelton, Ulrich, David Walker, E. C. Woodworth, W. F. Woodworth.

Supervisor Roberts moved that all bids be rejected and new ones advertised for, but the motion was lost. Carried for the Fenton Company. After considerable wrangling, joint meetings with the bidders, talks on the side, a lunch for the wavering ones at "Doug's" restaurant, persuasive measures, etc., a motion to award the contract to the highest bidder, the Fenton Metallic company, was carried by the following vote:

Yeas—Clements, Emmons, Fehsenfeld, Frost, Gill, Gould, Havens, Hill, Kinney, Lodner, Leppink, Loomis, O'Leary, Potter, Plumb, Schermerhorn, Sinclair, Smith, Skelton, Ulrich, David Walker, E. C. Woodworth, W. F. Woodworth.
Nays—Benjamin, Bergin, Colson, Hogadone, Roberts, Skelton, Smith, Sullivan, J. W. Walker—10.

Following the action County Clerk Harvey and the chairman of the county building committee, Supervisor Solomon, were ordered to sign a contract. The board then had a something stirring the vault fixture people to their very depths, but what it was none outside could tell. The Hoffman-Keefe company after failing to convince the board that its bid was the lowest, came forward with the startling proposition to furnish the vaults for $2000 less than the accepted bid. The board did not entertain the offer. Then, just as those authorized were about to sign the contract, a petition signed by the heaviest taxpayers in the county, was laid upon the desk of the county clerk, previous to which a formal notice had been served by the Hoffman-Keefe company, warning the board that the Fenton Metallic company used in their fixtures certain infringements upon patents owned by the former. All this, coming in quick succession, caused Harvey and Solomon to hesitate.

Thompson, Temple & McCormick, attorneys for the Fenton company, insisted that they should sign, but they refused to do so.

Appealed to the Courts.

As a last resort the supreme court was petitioned for a mandamus to compel Harvey and Solomon to sign. An order was issued that they show cause. The explanation was made that a good and sufficient bond had not been furnished. When this reason was given the supreme court ordered the Fenton company to pay the costs, and the petition was withdrawn.

Vain Quest for Fraud.

The matter rested quietly until last Tuesday. As to what the board would be forced to do in the premises, opinions were asked for and submitted by the law firms of Uhl & Crane and McGarry & McKnight. In the meantime, and before this, a committee endeavored to conduct alleged fraud, but were unsuccessful. The opinion presented by Uhl & Crane was that it was not necessary to sign the contract, and that of McGarry & McKnight was that the county would be liable for damages unless the contract was signed. The latter opinion was adopted by the following vote, and Harvey and Solomon were ordered to sign the contract.

Yeas—Messrs. Bergin, Clements, Colson, Emmons, Frost, Gould, Havens, Hill, Kinney, Lodner, Leppink, O'Leary, Potter, Plumb, Sinclair, Smith, Skelton, Sullivan, David Walker, Watkins, E. C. Woodworth, W. F. Woodworth—23.

Nays—Messrs. Benjamin, Fehsenfeld, Gill, Hogadone, Loomis, Proctor, Roberts, Ronsburg, Schermerhorn, Skelton, Ulrich, J. W. Walker, Ward—13.

Not Voting—Chairman.

When this action became known Maynard & Chase, attorneys for the Hoffman-Keefe company, made public the inside workings of a scheme to wring from the county a price for vault fixtures $2500 higher than the regular selling figure, and arrange the bids so that the Hoffman-Keefe company would be the concern to get the job.

Copy of the Agreement.

A copy of the agreement is given below.

To all of which we subscribe ourselves. Signed in triplicate. Fenton Metallic Manufacturing company, by S. B. Thompson; Hoffman-Keefe Office File company, H. J. Hoffman secretary; Office Specialty Manufacturing company, by H. C. Dixon.

The Hoffman-Keefe company was naturally disappointed when the Fenton company walked away with the plum. It was claimed that the Fenton company violated the agreement when it changed its plans and by making other concessions. Representatives of the Fenton company have contended that no such agreement existed. The revelations caused a sensation among the supervisors. The Hoffman-Keefe company now says it will put the fixtures in for $3,500 less and guarantee satisfaction.

RELICS TO CURE DISEASE.

For This Bishop Loughlin Took Away
Father Adams' Prock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Fifteen years ago the late Bishop Loughlin suspended the Rev. T. Adams, then assistant pastor of the Roman Catholic church of St. Ignace, in New York city, from his office. It is now said that the unfrocked priest will apply to the new bishop of Brooklyn, when he shall have been appointed, for reinstatement. The late Dr. Duggan, who four years ago was killed by George Weidner, recently pardoned by the governor, complained to the bishop that Father Adams had gone into the practice of faith cure for pecuniary considerations. One of Dr. Duggan's patients told him one day that she did not require his services any longer, as Father Adams was curing her by the use of holy relics. Bishop Loughlin, after hearing Dr. Duggan's story, sent for Father Adams.

"You are at liberty to continue performing your duties as a priest of the Catholic church," the bishop is said to have told the priest. "You are also at liberty to act as doctor, as far as I am concerned, but you cannot do both in the same case. Now take your choice." Father Adams is said to have chosen the latter alternative. At any rate, he was suspended from his priestly functions. Since that time he has been performing alleged faith cures.

Broke in His Heart.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Jan. 20.—Louis Lausier, who was stabbed in the chest Friday night by Charles Edwards, colored, died this morning. He lived over fifty hours after the small blade of a knife had pierced his heart. Lausier is white, and was attending a dance given Friday night by colored people. He and Edwards danced till midnight, and then had a sparring match. They quarreled, and Edwards, drawing a pocket knife, plunged it into Lausier's heart. Edwards was arrested, and will be arraigned at the district court Monday. Medical Examiner Holcomb found today the blade of the knife in the heart. Edwards is a murderer, and he is a very bad man. He was taken to the hospital, and he died after a long and painful illness. He was a native of Louisiana, and he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Ready to Fly With Her Pastor.

LAUREL, Del., Jan. 20.—The Rev. W. Johnson was sent three years ago to Gumboro, a village near here, to take charge of the Methodist Episcopal church. He had to leave at the end of the year, owing to charges of improper conduct, and went to Hooper's Island. In his new field the young clergyman soon became popular. He began a revival meeting this winter. Among the converts was Mrs. Simmons, whose husband, Captain Samuel Simmons, was a sailor and absent most of the time. He returned unexpectedly one night, and found his wife reading a letter from the pastor containing instructions how to cope. The captain gave the pastor twenty-four hours to leave the place, which he did with his wife and child.

Murder After a Christening.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 20.—A christening was held here Saturday night at Maltby, five miles from here, and a general fight followed. Four of the guests turned up the morning in a speak easy on the mountain side. They began to wrestle in play, and Stephen Harsha and Mike Matisco were thrown by Mike Litheran and Frank Sop. The defeated men set upon the victors with fence pickets. Sop managed to escape with no severe cuts on his head, but Litheran was known to be conscious. His head was beaten and kicked until his features were unrecognizable. Harsha and Matisco then got drunk and were arrested this afternoon. Sop is dangerously injured and may die.

NOT ALL ARE GOOD

But the Vast Majority of Ann Arbor Students.

ARE THE BEST ON EARTH

Prof. Davis Defends His School From the Shafts of Chicago Newspaper Malice—Hotel News.

Joseph R. Davis of Ann Arbor, assistant professor of engineering at the University, is a guest at Sweet's. Speaking of affairs at the University, he said yesterday to a reporter for The Herald: "There is one thing the newspapers of Michigan might easily do for the University, and do it conscientiously, too. That is to show a little more consideration in treating sensational stories from Ann Arbor. With a few exceptions the Michigan newspapers are entirely honorable and just in dealing with these affairs, but two or three of the Chicago papers seem to take a keen delight in exaggerating every escapade or sensational story that they may happen to hear of. Now such things are terribly unjust to the University. I don't believe students should be shielded in wrongdoing, but I do believe that some of the conscientious hard work done by a large majority of them ought to be received at least as much consideration as the devilry performed by a few. I will venture to say that not more than one per cent of the students at the University of Michigan are participants in any of these wild escapades that we hear so much about. I have kept a tolerably close watch on the actions of the students as a body, and I think there are not more than twenty-five of them that are responsible for the general disorder attributed usually to the entire University. While these twenty-five are decorating the town, 2500 more are at home working for all they are worth; yet these papers I spoke of will judge the character of the University by the actions of these twenty-five, and let the conscientious work of the 2500 count for naught. Just think of the injustice of that. These twenty-five by a half hour's devilry do more to establish the reputation of the University than they could do by 100 years of the hardest and most faithful study; or one of them does more towards it by thirty minutes of dissipation than he could by 2500 years of the most systematic labor. The injustice of such a state of things is apparent on the face of it. I believe as Prof. Olney did, that there is no class of people under the light of Heaven who are better fulfilling the purpose for which they were created than these young men and women at the University of Michigan. Why, in our department, it would be utterly impossible to accomplish anything if there was the slightest tendency to disorder. Many of the students in my class do not see more than once a week, and then for only an hour. Some of them I don't see that often; yet they perform their work as faithfully and as conscientiously as if some one were watching every movement they made—perhaps more so.

"Take any town in Michigan with 2,500 inhabitants, and I will guarantee that you will find ten times as much disorder in it as you will among the 2500 students at the University of Michigan. I am not claiming that our young men are all archangels and our young women all seraphs, but for true manliness and true womanliness will match against any similar body of people on the face of the earth."

U. of M. at the Fair.

"What is the U. of M. going to do at the World's Fair?" repeated Prof. Morris E. Cooley yesterday in answer to a reporter's question. "Well, that's just what we are trying to find out. One thing is certain; we can't do anything unless we have some money. I am going to see Mr. Weston before I leave town and see what can be done about the matter. The regents can't give us money, and I don't see much chance to do anything with our share—if we have a share—of the $25,000 the commission has reserved for exhibits. We are in the same condition as all the rest of the would-be exhibitors of this state. We haven't any money to carry out our plans. I should like to make a display from my department. The work done by the boys in mechanical engineering would make a very good display; but it will cost money to do it, and I fear I shall have to give it up. I think, unless we get a great deal more money than we expect to, that we shall adopt the plan we used in New Orleans. We can arrange there a concise history of the courses and synopses of the work done, about a pillar and let these huge 'barndores' revolve about the axis. That will give a good idea of the work done at the University, and can be done as easily as any thing. By the way, I hear that Cornell was so pleased with our display at New Orleans, that she will adopt the same idea at the World's Fair."

"How are matters in general at the University?" asked the interviewer. "Great," responded the popular professor enthusiastically. "Things are always right at the U. of M., and so are the boys."

Grand Rapids Has a Clinch.

"Grand Rapids unquestionably has a clinch on the country furniture business just now," said W. H. Sauters of Chicago, yesterday, "but there are several places now in competition with her that will make her hustle to keep her supremacy. I don't doubt, though, that she will do it. Grand Rapids can hustle if it is necessary. Rockford, Illinois, is making a very good display of furniture this year. They have some very good lines there, and several Chicago buyers who usually buy all their goods there, have sent in some good orders to Rockford. The New York furniture industry too. You see that struggle is made principally by the manufacturers in the small towns. No one of them has enough furniture to attract a buyer, but all of them getting together can make quite a display. All New York itself makes, is parlor furniture of the highest grade. This doesn't effect Grand Rapids in the least. Several firms here make lines that are not duplicated, and consequently there can be no competition. I guess your farm

Fought Over a Kiss.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 20.—The eastern part of the state was shocked some weeks ago by an affray between W. E. Grimsly of Snow Hill and the Rev. J. F. Abernathy, a local Methodist minister. Mr. Grimsly caught Abernathy kissing Mrs. Grimsly and shot him with a gun loaded with bird shot. The damage was not great. A few days later they met on the streets of Snow Hill and a duel ensued. The preacher was slightly wounded. Abernathy was suspended, and is now in Rutherford county. Yesterday Mr. Grimsly received a letter telling him to leave the state or to leave his wife. The writer in the letter told him that two men armed with double-barreled guns loaded with the largest kind of buck shot are "camping on his trail, but Grimsly is plucky and he will not be run out of the state, and he talks as if he would shoot the next preacher who attempts to take liberties with his wife.

Horrible Death of a Young Bride.

SELPHIE SPRING, Texas, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Henry Pickens, living within a few miles of this city, met with a horrible death last evening. Her husband left her in her room perfectly well at noon yesterday while he went to attend to some farm duties. When he returned he found his wife lying upon the hearth with her head in the fire, burned almost to a crisp. How she came to get into this horrible position is unknown. She was a bride of only a few weeks.

SUFFERING IN SIBERIA.

Terrible Tale Told by an American Sailor.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Jan. 20.—Charles Whinn, mate of the sailing schooner George E. White, tells a tale of suffering in Siberia. On a trip in the spring of 1890 the schooner got into Russian waters and barely escaped arrest. Another American sealer at the time was captured by the Russian authorities, says Whinn, and the crew compelled to work in the coal mines. Captain Alexander McLean, of the schooner Eddie D. Webster, of San Francisco, was arrested, but it is not known whether these men belonged to his or another vessel. Two of the crew of Americans, names unknown, incurred the displeasure of the officials because of a disposition to shirk work. They were chained together, with iron bands around their waists and a large iron ball at the end of the chain. One man was very large and the other below the medium height. They were kept under a guard and had to dig a certain amount of coal each day or no food would be sent down to them. The supply got short and the big man ate his companion's food for five days. The small man became frantic with hunger and murdered the greedy prisoner while he slept. He called to the guard at the mouth of the shaft and told him he had killed his companion and asked to be loosened from the dead man. The guard refused. In desperation the small man took a coal shovel and cut the dead man in two and loosened the land from his wrist. Neither was seen again. The expectation is that the murderer was killed by a guard or starved to death. The story is told by a prisoner who worked in the mines where the tragedy occurred. Many arrests are reported of poaching sailors by the Russian authorities and many prisoners never leave the mines alive.

Boring Holes in the Night.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Navigators in the East river were startled last night by a sudden illumination of their decks as they passed the Brooklyn navy yard. It was all due to two of the electric eyes of Uncle Sam's navy yard. They flashed from the monitor Mantonmoh, and every object struck by their radiance stood out in the surrounding blackness like a cameo. Travelers on the bridge and ferries wondered why the navy was painting lines of silver over-rivalling the moon's on a Sunday evening.
